LEAD - MANAGE - DO

THE CLUB HELD TOGETHER BY FOUR PEOPLE

A large community club is effectively being run by the same four volunteers. The Chair is exhausted, succession planning is almost non-existent and other members are reluctant to take on responsibility.

The club knows it needs to change, but every conversation seems to come back to the same people doing even more.

What actually needs to change here - not just what needs doing?

Who could you bring in around this club?

Who should the club lead LEAD?

What could somebody else MANAGE or DO?

If you personally went in and tried to fix this club, would you actually be repeating the club's own problem?

WE CAN'T RECRUIT VOLUNTEERS

A club repeatedly tells you it cannot recruit volunteers. The same people are coaching, sitting on the committee and doing the admin. They are tired, previous recruitment attempts have not worked and they want the CFA to help.

THE CLUB WANTS TO GROW... BUT HAS NOWHERE TO PLAY

A club has clear demand to grow its female and disability provision, but pitch availability is already restricting its existing teams. It does not own its site, relies on local authority or school facilities and is not particularly investment-ready.

A FOOTBALL CLUB, BUT NOT YET A COMMUNITY CLUB

A well-run club has lots of football activity but very little connection with its wider community. It does not really understand who lives around it, collects little insight from members and has few partnerships beyond traditional sponsors.

The club wants to grow but is not sure where to start.

EVERYTHING IS AMBER

You have completed a Club Development Review with a priority club. There is not one obvious problem.

Volunteer capacity is stretched. Governance needs strengthening. The club wants to introduce disability provision. Its facilities are restricting growth. And it has very limited connections into its local community.

The club turns to you and asks: "So... what do we do next?"
